

Master JewChriS

Jewish and Christian Scriptures History, Exegesis, Reception

Scriptura non potest intelligi theologice, nisi antea intellecta sit grammatice Philio Melanchthon

The Master Jewish and Christian Scriptures: History, Exegesis, Reception (JewChriS) is designed to help graduate students navigate the history of Biblical sources across the Jewish and Christian traditions, with lectures of prominent international scholars of the related fields. Students will be presented the texts of the Jewish and Christian Bibles in their historical development and will be led through the paths of the major Jewish and Christian exegetical traditions. They will develop critical skills in the study of textual history, translations, exegesis, and hermeneutics.

Directors

Edmondo Lupieri (Loyola University Chicago, Em.) Laura Bigoni (Alma mater studiorum University of Bologna)

Scientific Committee

Luca Arcari (University of Naples Federico II), Eberhard Bons (University of Strasbourg / FSCIRE), Laura Carnevale (University of Bari Aldo Moro), Davide Dainese (Alma mater studiorum University of Bologna / FSCIRE), Anna Mambelli (University of Modena and Reggio Emilia / FSCIRE), Alberto Melloni (University of Modena and Reggio Emilia / FSCIRE / La Sapienza University of Rome), Arianna Rotondo (University of Catania), Daniela Scialabba (Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome / FSCIRE)

Course Overview

Why? The Master JewChriS promotes a critical understanding of the historical development of Jewish and Christian Scriptures and the plurality of their exegetical traditions, both in the ancient and modern world. It is designed to help graduate students establish their path into independent research in the field of religious studies, leading to possible PhD candidacies and scholarly publications.

What? 50 lectures, 5 modules (10 classes of 1.5h each); 4 standard modules + a thematic section whose program changes every year. The language of the course is English.

Module 1: Texts and Contexts. Jewish and Christian Scriptures: Beyond the Concept of Canonicity (coordinators: Laura Carnevale and Edmondo Lupieri).

Module 2: Exegesis between Translations and Traditions (coordinators: Luca Arcari and Anna Mambelli).

Module 3: From Lorenzo Valla to the Semantic Web (coordinators: Laura Bigoni and Davide Dainese).

Module 4: Hermeneutics and Meanings (coordinators: Eberhard Bons and Daniela Scialabba).

Module 5: War and Peace: Voluntary Death and Martyrdom from Antiquity to the Present (collective coordination by the scientific committee).

Who? Anyone who holds a bachelor's degree in any field related to the study of religious traditions and has an interest in Biblical languages, history, translations, exegesis, and reception.

When? Lectures will run from January to June 2026 in intensive weekends (Friday and Saturday, 10a.m.-4p.m. GMT +2). Additional beginner-level language courses are optional and will run in evening sessions during the course. Languages offered include Biblical Hebrew, Aramaic, Ancient Greek, and Latin.

Where? Lectures will take place at the Fondazione per le scienze religiose, Via San Vitale 114, Bologna and online.

How? To apply, send an email to jewchris@fscire.it with a CV, a brief cover letter with your motivations to follow the course, and your language skills. Please note that for those who do not have a good command of Hebrew, Greek, and Latin the additional language courses will be strongly recommended. Applications for the 2026 edition can be sent until 16th December 2025. The scientific committee will let you know about your admission by 31st December 2025.

How much? The course is promoted and sustained by FSCIRE. The fee for enrolled students is 100 euros. Additional language courses will cost 100 euros each.
